GENERAL MESSAGE

Dear Friends,

The Riverside County Regional Park and Open-Space District (RivCoParks) is pleased to present its 2016-2017 Fiscal Year End Annual Report. As with previous annual reports, we look back at our journey and try to see patterns where they exist. These patterns, while not always present, do appear occasionally, often culminating in a theme which allows us to share a story to accentuate the numbers. This year’s theme was an easy one: recreating.

Knowing that we are in the business of providing recreational opportunities, one might assume we are speaking to a portion of our mission. However, by simply adding a hyphen to the word we alter the definition to mean bringing life, energy and a newfound focus to our work. This same re-creation is what our guests experience when they come to our facilities. Whether it is hiking, biking, picnicking, camping, swimming, fishing, attending events or enjoying interpretation at one of our sites, guests are renewed when they leave, having reconnected with the great outdoors.

How have we at RivCoParks re-created this past year? We adopted a new three-year strategic plan which will continue to serve as a guide to constantly improve in four key areas: Customer Service, Learning & Growth, Internal Business Support, and Finance. We have reorganized with a smaller management structure and continue to adapt to the needs of county residents and visitors as vacancies occur with a goal of remaining efficient yet productive. We are working feverishly to improve the guest experience by developing a point-of-sale system that will make checking into our parks a much more efficient process. Finally, we developed a partnership that resulted in the first ever Santa Ana River Trail family biking event, creating awareness for this extraordinary amenity.

We only mention a few of the items that we are working on in hopes that you will be enticed to read the full body of this report in order to appreciate everything we’ve accomplished in the past year.

As always, we are hopeful that the dedication, commitment and efforts of our staff, volunteers and support groups will shine through. Enjoy!
